Mr. Myers, Mrs. Heffner's son by an earlier marriage, was driving the automobile which figured in a collision with the car of James Williams, 18, of Middletown. DETECTIVE, SON SURRENDER, FACE KIDNAP CHARGES

MOUNT HOLLY, N. J., Oct. 20.—(UP)—Ellis H. Parker, Sr., Burlington county chief detective, and his son, Ellis Parker Jr., surrendered today to the United States marshal here to answer indictments returned against them in Newark in connection with their investigations of the Lindbergh baby murder case.

The indictments accused the Parkers of having had a part in the purported kidnaping of Paul H. Wendel of Trenton, whose "confession" of the abduction of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr., delayed for three days the execution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, convicted of the child's slaying. The confession allegedly was obtained under duress. It was repudiated.

The Parkers were arraigned immediately and the younger Parker was released on $25,000 bail furnished by friends while the senior Parker was released on $10,000 bail.

They pleaded not guilty to the indictments, which charged that they had a part in the kidnaping and torture of Wendel in New York.

In releasing the men on bail, U. S. Commissioner Ralph Haines ordered both to appear in federal court at Trenton on Oct. 27.

LINCOLN HURLS CHALLENGE AT STATE FARMERS

COLUMBUS, Oct. 20.—(UP)—A challenge to Ohio farmers to unite in a great consumer front by which the people, not special interests, will control national markets was voiced by Murray D. Lincoln, secretary of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, addressing the organization's 18th annual convention here today.

"If we can find the proper basis of relationship with the consumer together we can dominate the whole field of economic production and distribution," Lincoln said.

He urged more service units, a bigger electrification program, co-operative financing and special co-operative services.

Describing the farm policy as still unsolved, regardless of the administration in power, Lincoln termed co-operatives "the only effective economic machinery that can bring about these changes in an evolutionary, American way" against forces that eventually will cause world war.

MADRID BATTLE BELIEVED NEAR

Streets May Be Invaded Soon; President Azana "Touring Fronts"

GIBRALTAR, Oct. 20.—(UP)—Spain's capital was electrified today by a slated realization that the civil war might be fought out in its streets within a few days.

Dispatches reported an astonishing chance in atmosphere within a few hours.

President Manuel Azana was in Barcelona—though the capital did not know it—after a motor trip across country with four of the most conservative cabinet ministers.

It was explained officially that he was starting a tour of the war fronts.

Calm Only Momentary

For the moment, the fronts semi-circling Madrid were quiet. But the quiet was momentary only, and the leftists expected at any moment a new, fierce attack on one of the four main sectors.

It was reported without confirmation that the nationalists severed the Madrid-East coast railroad about 100 miles south of Madrid.

Guardedly worded dispatches from Madrid indicated that the report might be true and that trains, which were in Madrid stations with steam up, would evacuate troops if necessary to the east by the branch line that runs to Guenoca, and then continue by highway.

Many Men Volunteer

Madrid thrilled with horrors at the realization that the war was near. Women began lining up for food rations and many men volunteered for service, to be sent to the front without uniforms or arms—only with blankets to withstand the cold.

SUPREME COURT ACTS ENCOURAGE NEW DEAL CHIEFS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(UP)—Three procedural victories before the Supreme Court today gave the administration encouragement in carrying out New Deal recovery and reform measures.

The court refused to pass on controversies affecting the Social Security act, the Truth-in-Security law and authority of the PWA to make loans and grants for publicly owned municipal power systems.

Opponents of these measures had asked the court to pass on lower court rulings holding them valid. The acts, however, are involved in other suits upon which the court is expected to rule later.

Action of the court in denying a request that it consider constitutionality of the Social Security act, was unexpectedly prompt.

FIVE MEN DENY COURT CHARGES

Columbus Man Indicted for Manslaughter is Tried Nov. 9

Five men entered not guilty pleas in common pleas court Tuesday when arraigned on indictments returned last Friday by the county grand jury.

Frank Huston, 28, of 1353 Cary avenue, Columbus, will go on trial Nov. 9 on a manslaughter charge resulting from the automobile collision on Route 23, south, Sept. 27, in which Lawrence Saylor, 18, of Monroe, Mich., was fatally injured. Huston's attorney will be appointed by Judge J. W. Adkins.

The cases of Charles Ramsey, 28, of Circleville, and Howard Conley, 33, of Salt Lake, Ky., indicted for robbery, were set for Nov. 5 and Nov. 11, respectively. The trials for Clarence Brungs, city, indicted on two charges of burglary and larceny, were set for Nov. 16 and 18. Clarence and his brother, Fred, are charged with taking 62 pounds of chickens from the H. E. Riggan poultry house and $18.40 worth of merchandise from George Limebaugh's grocery, Aug. 28. Fred Brungs was returned to the Mansfield reformatory as a parole violator.

Ernest Leasure, city, will go on trial Nov. 20 on a charge of driving when intoxicated on Route 56 on July 25. The charge resulted from an automobile collision.

WOMAN IN BABY DERBY FIGHTING FOR HER LIFE

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 20.—(UP)—Mrs. Grace Bagnato, one of six leaders in the $750,000 "maternity marathon" which ends 12 days hence, fought today not only for the fortune which will go to the winner but also for her life and that of an unborn child.

Mrs. Bagnato, who has had nine children since the strange race began on Oct. 31, 1926, expects a tenth before the marathon deadline a week from Saturday.

Wakened by the strain of caring for her numerous children, Mrs. Bagnato was reported suffering from a "debilitated condition." One blood transfusion has been administered and others must follow if she is to live, it was reported.

Charles Vance Millar, who died Oct. 31, 1926, left the residue of his estate, valued at $750,000 to "the Toronto mother who within 10 years of my death gives birth to the greatest number of children."

MONKEY CUTS CAPERS AFTER FLEEING FROM ITS MAIN STREET PEN

Residents who gathered on W. Main street Monday afternoon to watch street shows being erected were given some excitement when a monkey owned by Ed Strasburg, Columbus, owner of Sammy, the trained chimpanzee, decided to go sight-seeing in Circleville.

The monkey escaped from its cage, made a dash down the alley beside Wallace's bakery, went into a garage then out again, and finally was captured about a block from the show when trying to climb a barn.

Mr. Strasburg has five monkeys with his Sammy show this year. All have babies and one has twins, one month old.

HELEN KELLER'S COMPANION AND TEACHER DEAD

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Oct. 20.—(UP)—Mrs. Anne Sullivan Macy, companion and teacher of Helen Keller for 49 years, died today. She was 70.

Mrs. Macy died at 7:50 a. m., in the home she shared with Miss Keller and Miss Polly Thomson, who is Miss Keller's secretary. She became ill last summer, then appeared to be recovering, but retrogression set in last week and it was evident to her friends that the end was near.

Mrs. Macy was a heroic, self-effacing person. The results of her teaching of Miss Keller, who, blind, deaf and mute from childhood, became the world's intellectual marvel, was better known than Mrs. Macy herself. Her life was poured into Helen Keller's triumphs.

She was first associated with Helen Keller in 1886, when she traveled south to become teacher to the seven-year-old child who had been deprived of sight and hearing by a babyhood attack of scarlet fever. They were together until death intervened, working for the same causes—peace and for the blind throughout the world.

A few years ago, Mrs. Macy lost her sight. And Helen Keller, the pupil, became the teacher to her teacher. She taught Mrs. Macy to read Braille.

Hope again was renewed for Mrs. Macy when Dr. Conrad Bernes, noted specialist, operated to remove a cataract and to correct other eye defects which had affected the famous teacher since childhood. Weeks later, when the bandages were removed, Mrs. Macy was able to see again.

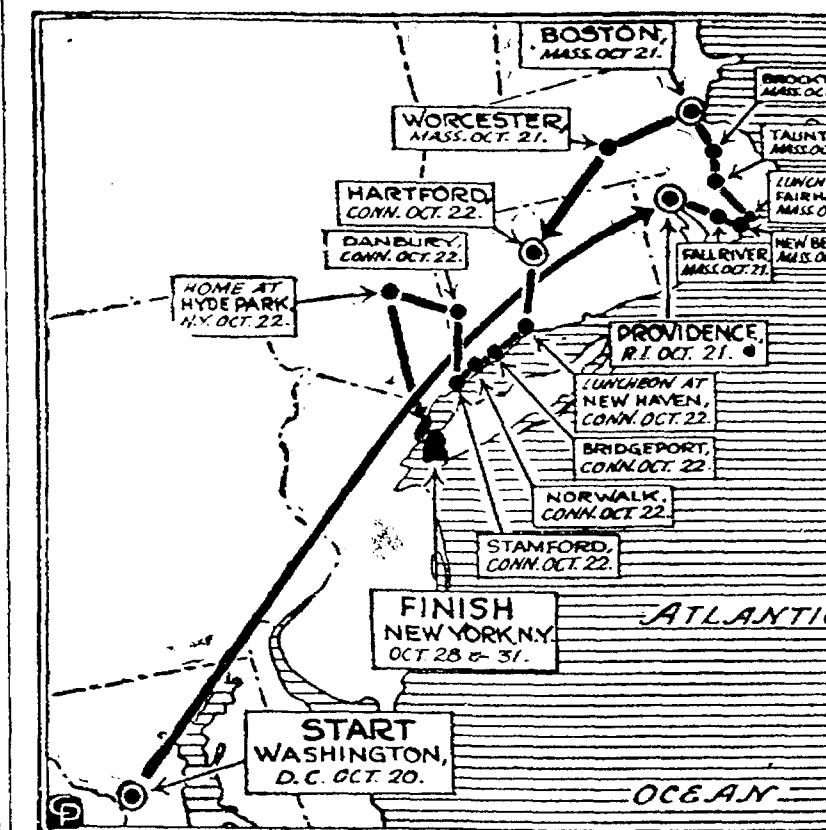

ANOTHER EX-NEW DEAL AIDE JOINS F. D. R.'S FORCES

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 20.—(UP)—Dean Acheson, resigned undersecretary of the treasury, today announced his support of President Roosevelt for re-election.

Acheson's announcement closely followed that of James P. Warburg, another formerly estranged administration fiscal advisor, who revealed over the week-end that he intended to vote for Mr. Roosevelt in November. Acheson quit the treasury because of disagreement with New Deal financial methods.

The former undersecretary's decision was revealed in a letter to the Baltimore Sun. He attributed his decision to agreement with the reciprocal trade policies of Secretary of State Cordell Hull—the same point cited by Warburg and to opposition to statements of Gov. Alf M. Landon and Republican National Chairman John D. M. Hamilton.

President's New England Tour

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S invasion of New England, his final campaign swing, is shown on this map. The president plans to wind up his campaign in Madison Square Garden, New York, on Oct. 31—the same night that Governor Landon speaks in St. Louis.

Roosevelt Ready For New England Invasion

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(UP)—President Roosevelt leaves for New England tonight on the final tour of his re-election campaign apparently in the best of health and unaffected by his arduous "stumping" of the country.

The president gets but little rest during his two-day stopover at the White House between his middle western tour and his invasion of the stronghold of his Republican opposition. Conferences and executive business occupied his time.

The strenuous 5,000-mile tour, during which he delivered four major addresses and hundreds of rear-pistol speeches, apparently did not tire Mr. Roosevelt. He is a veteran campaigner and appeared to enjoy it.

Aside from missing his daily exercise routine—a vigorous swim the trip, according to close friends, in the White House pool—he took "in his stride" and was ready after a brief rest at his Hyde Park home to start out again.

Meanwhile, he put final approval on arrangements that call for his departure late tonight for New England. Tomorrow and Thursday he will carry his fight into Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut in the hopes of capturing the electoral votes of those states.

His first appearance will be at Providence, R. I., where he will deliver an address from the steps of the state capitol. Then he will motor to Fall River and New Bedford, Mass., and thence to Boston via Taunton and Brockton. At Boston he will speak from the state house steps.

72 Persons Reported Lost in Ocean Off Coast of Java

PILOT, OPERATOR HEROES

Man Who Sent SOS Goes Down With Steamer

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 20.—(UP)—Seaplanes, landing repeatedly on the sea amidst floating wreckage, saved 43 persons today of 178 reported rescued from a mysterious disaster off Java to the steamship Van Der Wijk—perhaps the result of an under-sea quake.

Called to the scene by a heroic Netherlands wireless operator who stayed in his cabin and went down with the ship, the planes raced from Batavia.

Seventy-two persons, including 11 Europeans, had been lost, reports said.

22 Seen in Sloop

Native fishing boats were plying in and out amid the wreckage picking up survivors. Two native boats alone saved eight Europeans and 31 natives. Twenty-two persons were seen drifting in a sloop from the Van Der Wijk and were believed safe.

The airplanes arrived to see many persons floating on the sea, holding on to tables, chairs and pieces of wreckage.

They landed repeatedly, in great danger from the wreckage, and picked up 43 of the survivors.

Capt. B. C. Akkerman, the Van De Wijk's master, was saved. A master of 25 years' service in the Netherlands Royal Packet Company, no previous ship of his had met with serious trouble.

SOS messages said that the ship listed heavily, then began sinking. Company officials here could not understand how the disaster occurred. They pointed out that the sea could not have been very rough or the planes could not have landed, and the Van Der Wijk, recently overhauled, was seaworthy.

Some mariners here believed that the ship might have been caught by one of Java's occasional sequeakes.

MONKEY CUTS CAPERS AFTER FLEEING FROM ITS MAIN STREET PEN

Residents who gathered on W. Main street Monday afternoon to watch street shows being erected were given some excitement when a monkey owned by Ed Strasburg, Columbus, owner of Sammy, the trained chimpanzee, decided to go sight-seeing in Circleville.

The monkey escaped from its cage, made a dash down the alley beside Wallace's bakery, went into a garage then out again, and finally was captured about a block from the show when trying to climb a barn.

Mr. Strasburg has five monkeys with his Sammy show this year. All have babies and one has twins, one month old.

HELEN KELLER'S COMPANION AND TEACHER DEAD

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Oct. 20.—(UP)—Mrs. Anne Sullivan Macy, companion and teacher of Helen Keller for 49 years, died today. She was 70.

Mrs. Macy died at 7:50 a. m. in the home she shared with Miss Keller and Miss Polly Thomson, who is Miss Keller's secretary.

She became ill last summer, then appeared to be recovering, but retrogression set in last week and it was evident to her friends that the end was near.

Mrs. Macy was a heroic, self-effacing person. The results of her teaching of Miss Keller, who, blind, deaf and mute from childhood, became the world's intellectual marvel, was better known than Mrs. Macy herself. But her life was poured into Helen Keller's triumphs.

She was first associated with Helen Keller in 1886, when she travelled south to become teacher to the seven-year-old child who had been deprived of sight and hearing by a babyhood attack of scarlet fever. They were together until death intervened, working for the same causes—peace and for the blind throughout the world.

A few years ago, Mrs. Macy lost her sight. And Helen Keller, the pupil, became the teacher to her teacher. She taught Mrs. Macy to read Braille.

Hope again was renewed for Mrs. Macy when Dr. Conrad Berns, noted specialist, operated to remove a cataract and to correct other eye defects which had affected the famous teacher since childhood. Weeks later, when the bandages were removed, Mrs. Macy was able to see again.

ANOTHER EX-NEW DEAL AIDE JOINS F. D. R.'S FORCES

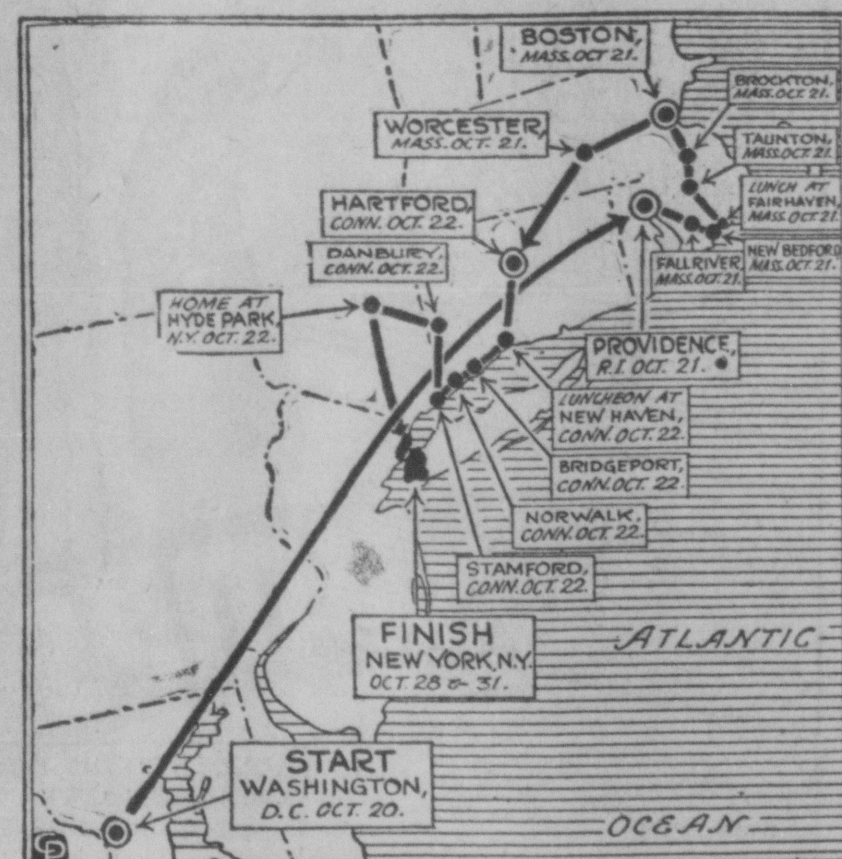

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 20.—(UP)—Dean Acheson, resigned undersecretary of the treasury, today announced his support of President Roosevelt for re-election.

Acheson's announcement closely followed that of James P. Warburg, another formerly estranged administration fiscal advisor, who revealed over the week-end that he intended to vote for Mr. Roosevelt in November. Acheson quit the treasury because of disagreement with New Deal financial methods.

The former undersecretary's decision was revealed in a letter to the Baltimore Sun.

He attributed his decision to agreement with the reciprocal trade policies of Secretary of State Cordell Hull — the same point cited by Warburg and to opposition to statements of Gov. Alf M. Landon and Republican National Chairman John D. M. Hamilton,

President's New England Tour

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S invasion of New England, his final campaign swing, is shown on this map. The president plans to wind up his campaign in Madison Square Garden, New York, on Oct. 31—the same night that Governor Landon speaks in St. Louis.

Roosevelt Ready For New England Invasion

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(UP)—President Roosevelt leaves for New England tonight on the final tour of his re-election campaign apparently in the best of health and unaffected by his arduous "stumping" of the country.

The president gets but little rest during his two-day stopover at the White House between his middle western tour and his invasion of the stronghold of his Republican opposition. Conferences and executive business occupied his time.

The strenuous 5,000-mile tour, during which he delivered four major addresses and hundreds of rear-platform speeches, apparently did not tire Mr. Roosevelt. He is a veteran campaigner and appeared to enjoy it.

Aside from missing his daily exercise routine—a vigorous swim, the trip, according to close friends, in the White House pool—he took "in his stride" and was ready after a brief rest at his Hyde Park home to start out again.

Meanwhile, he put final approval on arrangements that call for his departure late tonight for New England. Tomorrow and Thursday he will carry his fight into Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut in the hopes of capturing the electoral votes of those states.

His first appearance will be at Providence, R. I., where he will deliver an address from the steps of the state capitol. Then he will motor to Fall River and New Bedford, Mass., and thence to Boston via Taunton and Brockton. At Boston he will speak from the state house steps.

"GOOD" WEATHER PREDICTED FOR PUMPKIN SHOW

The biggest question of Tuesday was: "Will the weather remain good for the Pumpkin Show?"

The answer from two sources, both authorities, was "maybe."

Dr. H. R. Clarke, Circleville's weather observer, said from all indications the weather would be good the remainder of the week.

W. H. Alexander, state meteorologist, said from his office in Columbus that the weather would be "fair at beginning and close of week; unsettled during middle of week with showers possible Wednesday and Thursday. Temperature for week normal or slightly above normal."

Alexander's forecast, however, was for the Columbus area, which means it might rain in Westernville and not in Circleville; or vice versa.

Here's hoping the skies remain as clear for the entire week as they are Tuesday.

BROWDER DARES INDIANA POLICE IN SECOND TRIP

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Oct. 20.—(UP)—Fifty policemen waited at a railroad station today for the arrival of Earl Browder, communist candidate for president, whom they jailed less than a month ago to prevent him from making a speech. Police Chief James C. Yates, who, with other officials, is opposed to Browder speaking in Terre Haute, was non-committal concerning the heavy concentration. The policemen were there he said, "to take care of anything that might happen." He hinted that he feared mob violence directed at Browder.

Browder was en route with a $1,000 certified check with which to prove that he is not a vagrant, and was due to arrive a half hour before a scheduled hearing on a petition for a temporary injunction to restrain city and county authorities from arresting him. Yates said that "under ordinary circumstances" he would not arrest him until the hearing was over.

Browder also carried a copy of the Constitution.

QUAKE BLAMED FOR WRECKAGE OF DUTCH SHIP

72 Persons Reported Lost in Ocean Off Coast of Java

PILOT, OPERATOR HEROES

Man Who Sent SOS Goes Down With Steamer

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 20.—(UP)—Seaplanes, landing repeatedly on the sea amidst floating wreckage, saved 43 persons today of 178 reported rescued from a mysterious disaster off Java to the steamship Van Der Wijk — perhaps the result of an under-sea quake.

Called to the scene by a heroic Netherlands wireless operator who stayed in his cabin and went down with the ship, the planes raced from Batavia.

Seventy-two persons, including 11 Europeans, had been lost, reports said.

22 Seen in Sloop

Native fishing boats were plying in and out amid the wreckage picking up survivors. Two native boats alone saved eight Europeans and 31 natives. Twenty-two persons were seen drifting in a sloop from the Van Der Wijk and were believed safe.

The airplanes arrived to see many persons floating on the sea, holding on to tables, chairs and pieces of wreckage.

They landed repeatedly, in great danger from the wreckage, and picked up 43 of the survivors.

Capt. B. C. Akkerman, the Van De Wijk's master, was saved. A master of 25 years' service in the Netherlands Royal Packet Company, no previous ship of his had met with serious trouble.

SOS messages said that the ship listed heavily, then began sinking.

Company officials here could not understand how the disaster occurred. They pointed out that the sea could not have been very rough or the planes could not have landed, and the Van Der Wijk, recently overhauled, was seaworthy.

Some mariners here believed that the ship might have been caught by one of Java's occasional seaquakes.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 20.—(UP)—The Greek steamship Okeanos was abandoned 60 miles off Amsterdam in the Zuyder Zee today. Responding to an SOS the Netherlands steamship Beursplein took off the crew and transferred its members to the Greek steamship Belgien, which left for an unknown destination.

Senator Donahey cited that an "invisible government akin to that which abused Theodore Roosevelt 24 years ago is now persecuting Franklin D. Reviewing the accomplishments of President Roosevelt, Ohio's senator familiarly known as "Honest Vic" staunchly advised that "any reasonable person will admit it worth the cost" to the United States government of six-and-one-half billion dollars to "war on depression."

That there shall be submitted to the electors of the state, for their approval or rejection, in the manner provided by the constitution and laws of this state, at the general election on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1936, a proposal to amend the constitution of Ohio by striking out of section 3 of article XIII thereof the following language, to wit:

"Except that stockholders of corporations authorized to receive money on deposit shall be held individually responsible, equally and ratably, and not one for another for all contracts, debts, and engagements of such corporations, to the extent of the amount of their stock therein, at the par value thereof, in addition to the amount invested in such shares," by correcting the punctuation of said section accordingly, and by adopting a schedule governing the general effect of said amended section, said section as it would be when so amended and said schedule thereto being as follows:

ARTICLE XIII
"Section 3. States government of six-and-one-half billion dollars to "war on depression."

Senator Donahey stated that America has the best credit of any nation in the world and presented the following views:

"The World War cost the United States Government more than fifty-four billion dollars. Today the war clouds hovering over Europe present to our country the gravest danger of the next four years. Franklin D. Roosevelt is the best informed man in all America on the European war situation. His attitude, training and experience bring to us the greatest protection possible against war. He has said, 'If we face the choice of profits or peace, the nation will answer—must answer—we choose peace.'"

"The war on depression has cost the United States Government about six and one-half billion dollars. Any reasonable person will admit it was worth the cost."

"America has the best credit of any nation in the world. The average wealth of the United States is $3,259.00 per person, more than the combined wealth per capita of France, Italy and Japan. America has more gold in her treasury than any other nation in the world, yes, more than all other nations combined."

"A prudent head of a family loans money from his surplus to his children in times of panic and depression with the understanding that they must pay it back when times improve and they are making money."

"The United States Government has loaned a lot of money to save one million homes and feed millions of hungry people. When national income returns to normal it will be paid back readily. What is good for an average home is good for a government. This plan has worked satisfactorily since the beginning of time."

"It is estimated that for the fiscal year of 1937-38 the people will pay to the United States Government from tax laws now in force five and one half billion dollars. Prosperity, my friends, will balance the national budget. The national income has increased twenty billion dollars during the last three and one half years. Nothing should be done to retard recovery. Let us keep the national income growing until the budget is balanced and every able bodied man can buy his own bread through private enterprise."

"This election is going to separate the liberal and conservative voters more completely than they have ever been divided before. I for one will follow and fight for a liberal Democratic Party headed by Franklin D. Roosevelt, the man who has had the courage to establish belated social security laws and fight valiantly for economic justice."

"When this great humanitarian assumed the duties of President March 4, 1933, he inherited millions of hungry citizens who cried for bread and a chance to earn it. He has given them something to live on. If reelected he will give them something to live for."

Democratic Senate

"The present administration has done more to help the farmers of this country than all previous administration combined. And finally, let me forget, I invite you to contrast the improved condition of the farmer today with his plight four years ago."

"If Governor Landon were to be elected President he would have a Democratic Senate for four years at least. Personally, I will always support the President in a every proper manner, be he Democrat or Republican, but, an executive of one party and a legislature of another do not insure forward action."

"The vital campaign issue before the people of this country is: Shall the common people advance with President Roosevelt or retreat with Governor Landon?"

OHIO NORTHERN STUDENTS' POLL SUPPORTS F. D. R.

ADA, Oct. 20 — An incomplete Ohio Northern students' poll the results of which were announced here today gave Roosevelt 207 votes to 189 for Landon. Of the total enrollment of 623, the Y. M. C. A., organization which conducted the poll reported 407 votes cast.

Traditionally a stronghold of Republicanism, the former home of ex-senator S. D. Fess and the late Frank B. Willis, enough Republicans switched votes to give Roosevelt a majority of seven votes. Landon received 189, Thomas, seven, and Lemke, four. Two hundred and fourteen of the 407 students voting indicated that they were regular Republicans; while 75 registered no party preference.

Governor Landon received 51 of the women's votes as against 49 for Roosevelt, and members of the faculty who voted gave Landon 23 and Roosevelt 15.

John W. Bricker received 288 and Martin L. Davey 151 in the student ballot for Governor. Members of the faculty who voted gave Bricker 26 and Davey 12.

"The World War cost the United States Government more than fifty-four billions of dollars. Today the war clouds hovering over Europe present to our country the gravest danger of the next four years. Franklin D. Roosevelt is the best informed man in all America on the European war situation. His attitude, training and experience bring to us the greatest protection possible against war. He has said, 'If we face the choice of profits or peace, the nation will answer—must answer—we choose peace.'"

"The war on depression has cost the United States Government about six and one-half billion dollars. Any reasonable person will admit it was worth the cost."

"America has the best credit of any nation in the world. The average wealth of the United States is $3,259.00 per person, more than the combined wealth per capita of France, Italy and Japan. America has more gold in her treasury than any other nation in the world, yes, more than all other nations combined."

"A prudent head of a family loans money from his surplus to his children in times of panic and depression with the understanding that they must pay it back when times improve and they are making money."

"The United States Government has loaned a lot of money to save one million homes and feed millions of hungry people. When national income returns to normal it will be paid back readily. What is good for an average home is good for a government. This plan has worked satisfactorily since the beginning of time."

"It is estimated that for the fiscal year of 1937-38 the people will pay to the United States Government from tax laws now in force five and one half billion dollars. Prosperity, my friends, will balance the national budget. The national income has increased twenty billion dollars during the last three and one half years. Nothing should be done to retard recovery. Let us keep the national income growing until the budget is balanced and every able bodied man can buy his own bread through private enterprise."

"This election is going to separate the liberal and conservative voters more completely than they have ever been divided before. I for one will follow and fight for a liberal Democratic Party headed by Franklin D. Roosevelt, the man who has had the courage to establish belated social security laws and fight valiantly for economic justice."

OHIO NORTHERN STUDENTS' POLL SUPPORTS F. D. R.

ADA, Oct. 20 — An incomplete Ohio Northern students' poll the results of which were announced here today gave Roosevelt 207 votes to 189 for Landon. Of the total enrollment of 623, the Y. M. C. A., organization which conducted the poll reported 407 votes cast.

Traditionally a stronghold of Republicanism, the former home of ex-senator S. D. Fess and the late Frank B. Willis, enough Republicans switched votes to give Roosevelt a majority of seven votes. Landon received 189, Thomas, seven, and Lemke, four. Two hundred and fourteen of the 407 students voting indicated that they were regularly Republicans; while 75 registered no party preference.

Governor Landon received 51 of the women's votes as against 49 for Roosevelt, and members of the faculty who voted gave Landon 23 and Roosevelt 15.

John W. Bricker received 288 and Martin L. Davey 151 in the student ballot for Governor. Members of the faculty who voted gave Bricker 26 and Davey 12.

MILLER'S DEATH THOUGHT CAUSED BY LOW BRIDGE

Named Death Scene

While Norfolk & Western railroad officials were reporting they believed he was killed when his head struck a low bridge near the Dorney coaling station, funeral services were being held in the Church of Christ in Christian Union for William E. Miller, 42, of Columbus, head brakeman for the railroad.

Mr. Miller's body was found in the tender when his train arrived in Chillicothe Saturday evening. A blow on the head caused death.

Miller's train, pulling a load of empties, left Columbus at 3:55 p. m. Saturday. It arrived at Chillicothe at 5:12 p. m. Between Chillicothe and Chillicothe, the engineer glanced back toward the coal pile and saw a man's feet hanging over the edge of the coal at the top. The tender load of coal had been used sufficiently to slide forward and downward until the feet of the dead man atop the pile were exposed.

The train stopped at Chillicothe and the body was removed to Ware's funeral home. William Skaggs, extra yard brakeman, took the head brakeman post on the train the balance of the trip.

The engineer told Dr. R. E. Oliver, local coroner, that he did not recall seeing Miller after the train left Columbus. It was Miller's habit to come out of the head brakeman coop atop the tender and wave to one of his daughters in Chillicothe, but this he failed to do Saturday evening. At Dorney the train was flagged by a man named Good, employed there, who released a jet brake on a car about seven car lengths back of the engine and signalled the engineer to go ahead. Miller was not seen at that time.

Examination of the body showed he had a four-inch laceration on the back of his head, starting about 1 1/2 inches above the left ear and running parallel with the ear line back to the rear center of the skull. The laceration did not expose the skull, but beneath the cut the skull was bashed in, indicating that he had been struck by some heavy object, Coroner Oliver said.

N. & W. police and transportation officials began a check Saturday of all clearances between Chillicothe and Columbus in an effort to find if Miller was struck by some overhead object. Monday the opinion was that he had stood up on the head brakeman coop to look back over his train after it left Dorney and forgot about the overhead bridge. The presumption is his head came in contact with the lower part of the bridge.

Another trainman found Miller's hat at a point 300 feet below Dorney thus strengthening the belief that the accident occurred somewhere in the vicinity.

Eat or Sleep

"The gas on my stomach was so bad I could not eat or sleep. Even my heart seemed to hurt. A friend suggested Adierka. The first dose I took brought me relief. Now I eat as I wish, sleep fine and never feel better."
—Mrs. Jas. Filler.

Adierka acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels while ordinary laxatives act on the lower bowel only. Adierka gives your system a thorough cleansing, bringing out old, poisonous matter that you would not believe was in your system and that has been causing gas pains, sour stomach, nervousness and headaches for months.

Dr. H. L. Shoup, New York, reports: "In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adierka greatly reduces bacteria and colon bacilli." Give your bowels a REAL cleansing with Adierka and see how good you feel. Just one spoonful relieves GAS and constipation.

HEALTH, GOOD AND BAD

READERS of obituaries these days often find the same story—years of strain while battling with the depression, then another good man gone. We all recall the accounts during flush years of more good men gone, broken by indulgences and the fast pace. How do the ravages of these opposite corruptions of health balance?

The medical men often list worry and over-eating, over-drinking or too tense living as causes of physical collapses. Any logic concludes that if worry be absent or subdued, and hard times enforce less hectic daily existences, then the depression should pay dividends in improved average health. The more exact measure lies in statistics furnished by boards of health and life insurance companies, comparing the prevalence of particular diseases, or causes of deaths, over periods including both hard and good times.

Such figures agree strikingly and indicate an improved level of health. Let us understand clearly that good reasoning and good evidence, after putting the contrasting health factors in the two trays of a scale, find the one markedly outweighing the other. It brightens the outlook.

AVENUES OF SAFETY

EDUCATIONAL influences were held forth before the Safety Congress in Atlantic City as the most promising means of curbing highway casualties, and it will be generally conceded that the notion is valid.

Without the constant efforts of motor vehicle departments and municipal authorities to bring before drivers of automobiles the hazards of recklessness, lists of deaths and injuries doubtless would be far more extensive than they are at the present time. It remains true, however, that painstaking examination of applicants for drivers' licenses and rigorous enforcement of the traffic code are supplemental factors that must not be ignored.

Safety education plus licensing care and official pressure will continue to offer hope for the attainment of roads and streets free from the blemish of unnecessary accidents.

A new distemper treatment consists of giving the beast the disease and then a remedy. It sounds very reminiscent of some tical cures.

There is no longer any question in the public mind as to just what happens when Spaniard meets Spaniard.

What is most important? Well, the law protects pocketbooks from worthless securities, but what protects minds from worthless ideas?

World At A Glance

When the American Federation of Labor's executive council suspended the 10 unions affiliated with John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization the suggestion was made that the suspended bodies appeal to the courts to compel the A. F. of L. to recognize their delegates at the federation's Tampa convention in November.

However, Lewis (president of the United Mine Workers as well as head of the C. I. O. movement) was prompt to deny that any such step would be taken.

"We're afraid," he explained to newspapermen, "that we'd win."

CANNOT COMPROMISE

That statement undoubtedly summed up the whole labor situation in a small mouthful of words.

Lewis, with a following of about 1,150,000 (approximately one-third of the total strength of the A. F. of L.), is pursuing a course which cannot obtain its objective by compromise or even a partial victory.

On the opposite hand, the A. F. of L. cannot agree to what the C. I. O. demands, as a minimum, without admitting utter defeat.

The A. F. of L., alarmed by Lewis' potency, is disposed to yield somewhat, but naturally its management balks at abdicating unqualifiedly in favor of the C. I. O. folk, and Lewis demands nothing less — not in terms quite so brusque, but that is what they mean.

AN "ARISTOCRACY"

The A. F. of L. is an aristocracy of labor — the highly skilled and very select.

The C. I. O. aims at an alignment of all classes of workers. The A. F. of L. has had plenty of influence, but it has kept clear of out-and-out partisanship.

The C. I. O. and organizations associated with it take sides.

In short, the C. I. O.'s plan is to become ultimately a party — not necessarily a labor party, but a party consisting of a labor nucleus with other groups included in it — and "wagged" by the labor party, too.

LEWIS LOOKS TO 1940

That this amalgamation can be effected (aristocratic labor, common labor, white-collared labor, agriculture and miscellaneous folk) is problematic.

If it is a task which John L. Lewis is equal to he should be a presidential candidate in 1940. Maybe he will not be elected, but he will be in the running. Is it likely that he will surrender his

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

MONEY MEN TO AID FDR

WASHINGTON — One recent development that New Dealers point to as a sign of a Roosevelt victory is the way some of the big money boys are lining up.

One of the most astute among them is Will Clayton, largest cotton merchant in the world, who has just announced his support of Roosevelt. Clayton previously had contributed $10,000 to the Liberty League, and was emphatically against Roosevelt. It is a good bet that he would not make the change unless he thought Roosevelt was a sure winner.

One Washington representative of Wall Street recently went up to see his bosses to advise them which way the tide was turning and that it was wise to get in line.

Also note the big shots who have dropped in to see the President recently. For months they had been giving him the cold shoulder. But among his recent callers have been Clarence Dillon, Wall Street investment banker, and Myron Taylor, head of the giant United States Steel Corporation and director in a half-dozen other powerful firms.

New Dealers assert that these overtures by big business are more significant than any number of straw polls.

TUGWELL'S FAMILY

Rex Tugwell is distressed that he can't keep his private affairs to himself.

He didn't want it known that his wife and children were moving back to New York, leaving him to lead a bachelor's life in Washington. But the story got out through an indiscreet driver of a moving van.

Mrs. Tugwell's explanation to her friends is that living costs are too high in Washington.

Beyond that, there is a little difference about going to the movies. When Tugwell was engrossed in an evening's work, Mrs. Tugwell wanted him to go to the movies with her. And Rex didn't want to go.

Tugwell has taken up quarters in a hotel in Washington.

BUSES AND INDIANS

The National Labor Relations Board has been trying for nearly a year to settle the Greyhound Bus case, but they have been blocked by the whims of an octogenarian federal judge, Joseph Buffington of the Third Circuit Court.

It was last December that the NLRB petitioned the Court to enforce its order that the bus company reinstate certain discharged employees.

Four months passed before hearings were called. Then six months more passed without a verdict. Finally, two weeks ago, aged Judge Buffington asked NLRB to come to Philadelphia for "additional discussion".

The high point in that discussion was reached when the Board's counsel, Charles Fahy, made some reference to the commerce clause in the Constitution.

"What clause?" queried Buffington, his hand behind his ear.

"The commerce clause, Your Honor," said Fahy.

"Where is that in the Constitution?"

"In Section 8 of Article I, Your Honor."

"Let's see it," insisted the Judge.

lead to President Green of the A. F. of L. in the meantime?
If he compromises with the A. F. of L., that is what he does.

MUST REMAIN AT ODDS?

Not that Green ever could become presidentially prominent.

But if Green retains his hold over a predominant A. F. of L., Lewis' chances automatically wither and die.

And if the A. F. of L., re-absorbs the C. I. O. by compromise, that is what follows.

Consequently Lewis MUST remain at odds with William Green. There CANNOT be a compromise.

UNBRIDGEABLE DIFFERENCE

The disagreement between Lewis and his followers, and Green and his is a great deal more than a mere difference of opinion as to the relative desirabilities of vertical and horizontal unionization.

Unquestionably Lewis sincerely believes that the growth of mass industries has made the vertical method necessary.

However, vertical organization is only a first step toward fulfillment of the C. I. O. leader's evident program — the creation of a new political party, which calls for numbers; just what horizontal unionism, in its very nature, cannot have except to a limited extent.

FLOWERS AT HER FEET

COPYRIGHT, RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

READ THIS FIRST:

By winning a $500 slogan contest, Alix Carey earns a promotion in the advertising agency where she is employed and enlists the personal interest of John Sayre, young president of the agency, whom she secretly admires. Coming to New York following her parents' death, she has made close friends of Kathleen Crosby and her cousin, Kim Preston. Alix and Sayre begin to mix business and pleasure. She sees him frequently and begins to care for him deeply but suspects he is in love with Carol Cushing. Meanwhile Alix entertains Bill Boyd, her old sweetheart, who is visiting New York. Suddenly offered a better position elsewhere, Alix discusses it with John. Kim proposes to Alix but she puts him off and then John tells her he is falling in love. She is amazed when Carol displays a bracelet that John had shown Alix in his office. John cannot understand why Alix's feelings towards him have changed. A few weeks later she agrees to marry Kim. Then she realizes that her best friend, Kathleen, is in love with Kim. Alix tells Kim she must break her engagement. In order to convince Kim that he should not marry her, Alix tells him she does not believe in fidelity.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 25

KIM, GO back to Kathleen who loves you. Don't let me make another mistake in this misguided life of mine. I can stand hurting myself as I have but I can't stand hurting this girl who has been such a friend to me. I love Kathleen, I only like you. I was stupid, blundering, selfish in my anxiety to escape from myself and took the chance you offered me. Now, I will make a sacrifice, because I want to right the wrong I have done.

This Alix said over and over to herself, an incoherent sort of prayer.

She knew the move that she was going to make. The move that would lose her the last thing she had, the last affection that meant much to her. But she couldn't see any other way.

She knew that had she thrown Kim and Kathleen at each other, each would have run away. The seemingly simple way was impossible.

You'd never have guessed what she had in mind in the next few weeks. She was a different girl. She was gay in a hard, bright, determined way. She wanted to go places, to do things. She chatted with Kim on the telephone. She made him take her to Coney Island and put on a supreme act of having a mad, merry time. If it perplexed Kim, he said nothing of that perplexity.

She wouldn't go to any of the philharmonic concerts. The summer before they had sat together enraptured under the stars at the stadium, drinking in the symphonies they both loved. Now she wanted dance music. She wanted to go to parties. She gave parties, kept her apartment filled with people.

When they had gone, she washed glasses and plates, restored the place to order and too frequently found herself staring blankly at an ash tray she had held in her hand for an hour.

She was not hard and gay then. She was soft and hurt with the sharp pain that pierced her side and made her feel she was crumbling within.

Sometimes she cried great sobs that tore her apart while she called out for the one who was separated from her by more than the ocean that stretched between them.

One by one the pictures came out of the past to flash before her as though her memory were a camera with a shutter exposing her pitilessly to them.

Pictures of a girl and a man standing by a lily pool, posed against a big, red moon. Pictures of a man at the wheel of a long dark car with the wind blowing the brim of his hat back. Pictures that twisted her heart with a sweet, agonizing poignancy.

Those nights she cried herself into merciful slumber.

There were others when she lay dry-eyed and stared into the future. And woke the next morning cold with the heaviness within her and did not know that another summer had come.

But the girl who cried or the girl who was wrapped in a mantle of dread was never the girl that Kim saw.

She wanted Kim to see this new girl that she pretended to be. She wanted to be a girl that he could forget, dismiss forever as unimportant to him.

It was the only way she knew. She was puzzled that he never reproached her, never mentioned the change in her.

But if he didn't, there were others who did.

Her work suffered. Three times in one week she made mistakes in reports she sent to Bill Warner. She quarreled with Kleermann, dared to criticize the decor of a room he had done.

It was part of the Warner advertising plans to offer a free decorating service to purchasers of their product. Alix herself had done many of the rooms. She had enjoyed doing them, hadn't minded Kleermann's shoving the work on her. But her nerves were frayed and Kleermann was handiest for the explosion that had to come.

Kathleen had not been in town much of that summer. She found reasons to make motor trips, to week-end at Easthampton.

Alix knew her reasons. "You ought to have a vacation," Kathleen said to her kindly on one of the rare occasions when she was in New York. "Alix, you look very tired. You're thinner."

"It's just the summer," Alix said.

"I don't think it is. I think you're being too gay. Why don't you take it easy? You don't want to be worn out when you and Kim leave for Mexico. Kim tells me he's planning to go in August. I suppose that means you will be married very soon?"

Alix knew how it hurt Kathleen to ask that.

So Helen Preston, Kim's mother, hadn't told Kathleen that Alix had said she wasn't going to marry Kim!

"Kathleen, are you going to be in New York, Sunday?" Something stabbed Alix when she saw Kathleen look away. She knew that Kathleen was seeking an excuse, a way to avoid her.

"I don't know, Alix. I'll let you know."

Alix put her hand—it was whiter than ever—over Kathleen's. "Please stay," she said, urgently. Her glance said, "I need you and I promise you this time you will not be hurt."

"Very well, I will. What's up?"

"I'm having some people in. . . . Oh, come along and see."

That night Alix went to see Helen Preston and found that lady alone. Alix knew that Kim had gone to Elmira to see the glider exhibition.

"Come in, my dear," Helen said cordially.

"I should have telephoned but I was afraid you might say you were busy." Alix twisted her handkerchief, saw what she was doing and stopped.

"I have something I want to tell you. I want to tell you what I'm going to do because some day I want you to tell Kathleen. I will not be able to but I want her to know that I love her, that I would have gone away long before this had I known what was going to happen. Don't tell her now but tell her some day."

Alix said more and was finished. There were tears in Helen Preston's eyes when Alix had finished. She held out her hand to the younger woman. "I'm proud to know you, Alix Carey. You're wise beyond your years, as lovely in your mind as you are in your face. Some day you'll have all things and this will seem like something you dreamed. You can trust me. When the time comes, I'll tell Kathleen."

Alix left feeling that one thing was left to her. On Sunday night Alix's gaiety fell from her. She served her guests with unsteady hands, did her utmost to make her small party a success but she didn't detain them when they were ready to leave.

When Kathleen made ready to go with the others, Alix asked her to stay. "Kim will take you home," she said prophetically.

Then the three of them were alone.

Alix stood before her hearth. Her hands, which might have given her away, were clasped behind her.

"Kathleen, Kim," her voice was not at all like the expression she assumed, "I have something to say to both of you. I want Kathleen to hear it and she'll know it to be the truth. I'd rather she'd hear it from me than from anyone else."

Kim prowled around the back of the room. Kathleen knit her brows.

"I've tried to tell Kim that I'm not going to marry him. He doesn't seem to get the idea." (Go on, Alix, you've rehearsed it before.)

"I've told him that I don't love him. I didn't want to be crude about it but apparently I've got to. Kim was second best choice!"

They looked at her startled.

"Kathleen, you took me on as a friend without knowing anything about me. You didn't know that I was just another ambitious small-town girl who wanted to make a successful marriage. I wanted to marry someone else who had a great deal of money"—she steeled the break in her voice—"because he had money. I couldn't do that so I thought Kim would do. He has some social position, a good income. However, I think I can do better."

She looked back at them boldly and saw their eyes drop.

DIET AND HEALTH

Nutritional Reserve is Needed by Growing Child

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

CHILDREN should have a steady growth rate. This applies to both height and weight. There are, of course, normal periods when these rates are retarded, but, in general, at least up to the age of ten, the increase is continuous and gradual.

To maintain this rate it is necessary to have a nutritional reserve.

There is nothing mysterious about this expression. The food a child gets may be just enough to maintain it in a state of nutrition, just on the ragged edge. Or, it may be of quality and amount such as to saturate the body's requirement for growth and development. This is a nutritional reserve, which makes for the steady growth rate desired because when there is any interruption, such as an intestinal upset or a fever, the body's reserve is sufficient to carry it through without interruption.

The diet requirements sufficient to create this nutritional reserve are somewhat different in children than in adults because of the growth factor. They are:

What Foods Meet Needs?

1. Energy requirement—the total amount of food must be greater than at any later period of life.

2. Protein—four times as much as adults.

3. Minerals—especially calcium, phosphorus, iron and iodine.

4. Vitamins.

Water is left out of this discussion, for while water is an absolutely necessary part of an infant's diet, it does not come under the heading of nutritional reserve.

The question you will immediately want to know is exactly what foods furnish these requirements, that is easy to answer because, under modern conditions of food merchandising, it would be hard to construct a diet which did not live up to them. In only one or two places is it necessary to take any special pains in planning for certain elements.

The total amount of energy required in infants' food is three times as much as in adults—50 calories per pound per day for a year-old infant, as against 15 calories per pound for an adult 40 years old.

The large digestive apparatus of the child takes care of this extra food. If an adult were to consume as much food in comparison to weight as an infant, he would drink 10 quarts of milk and eat two pounds of sugar a day.

For nutritional reserve, this extra total amount is the most important feature of the child's diet. The most frequent cause of malnutrition in infancy is not lack of any special element in the diet, but simply in not getting enough food.

What foods this total energy will come from are milk and sugar in infancy, and in childhood the addition of potatoes, eggs, cereals, toast, orange juice, bananas, cream and butter—in short, the carbohydrates and fats.

Other features of the nutritional reserve diet will be considered tomorrow.

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

America's favorite player of soldier-of-fortune roles, husky Gary Cooper, who appears as a gun-runner in Paramount's "The General Died at Dawn," closing Thursday at the Cliftona theatre, has a personal history which might well match that of any of those gallants in real life who only live when their lives are in danger.

Born in Helena, Montana, Cooper was taken to England at an early age to be educated. Soon after his return, and while still a youngster, he was injured in an automobile accident and sent to his father's ranch to recover. There he learned the lore of the range which stood him in such good stead later when he appeared in pictures in Western roles.

AT THE GRAND

During the filming of his latest First National comedy, "Earthworm Tractors," at the Grand theatre, Joe E. Brown spent two full days in a standard sized telephone booth for the making of several long phone conversations. Joe lost two and a half pounds during the two days of being cooped up in the booth under the glare of the strong studio lights.

AT THE CIRCLE

Putting thrills into pictures usually is one of the hardest jobs film folks have to face.

They've all been done a thousand times.

But for "China Seas," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature with Clark Gable, Jean Harlow and Wallace Beery in the starring roles, now showing at the Circle theatre, it was no trouble at all to evolve a brand new series of thrills, according to James K. McGuinness and Jules Furthman, who wrote the scenario.

circumstances which might lead you into accident from December 29 through January 5.

Seek the company of the opposite sex. ask favors. mingle with friends or buy clothes from January 3 through 5.

INDIAN MOUND YIELDS RELICS OF STONE AGE

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UP) — While excavating a mound, reported to be the most ancient in Pennsylvania—declared to date back from 1,000 to 2,000 years—WPA workers under the direction of Dr. Donald A. Cadzow, state archaeologist, unearthed relics that may prove of considerable importance in the future writing of the chronological table of man's habitation of this country.

The mound was used by an ancient Algonkian Indian tribe possessing an advanced culture, for a burial place. The skeletons were discovered at the roots of a large tree. The bodies had been buried in a flexed position. With them were recovered objects of unquestionably ancient origin, including chipped stone blades hitherto unknown in the eastern section of the United States, numbers of stone containers, pottery pipes and two ceremonial platters made of slate. Beautifully carved white marble cups were also uncovered.

Dr. Cadzow reported the skeletons were not considered in a state of preservation comparable to the Bronze Age skeletons found in the tumuli of the British Isles, but he had reason to believe the excavation contained material at least as ancient.

PIONEER RELICS FOUND

FORT PECK, Mont. (UP)—Reminders of the heyday of Missouri River traffic in Montana have been unearthed by a dredge, engaged in the construction of Fort Peck dam. Old lead bullets, buffalo skulls and other relics of Montana's frontier days have been found.

Senator Couzens Suffers Relapse; Condition Serious

DETROIT, Oct. 20 — (UP) —

Senator James Couzens is in a serious condition in Harper hos-pital today, suffering a new com-plication in an involved series of abdominal ailments.

His physician, Dr. Hugo Freund, said the senator had sustained a "slight relapse" brought about by failure of his kidney to function properly. A year ago at the Mayo clinic in Rochester, Minn., the sen-ator underwent a kidney operation.

Senator Couzens entered the hos-pital, Sept. 26 for a general ex-amination after he had suffered a back strain. He had left his sick bed only once since then, when he dined with President Roosevelt during the chief executive's visit to Detroit last Thursday.

Dr. Freund visited the senator late last night, but said his con-dition, while serious, could not be termed critical. A nurse has been in constant attendance.

This is the time of year when the nudist begins to think of sacri-ficing a few important principles in the interests of personal com-fort.

Next take one cup of cake flour (sifted before measuring) add to it, three-fourths teaspoon cream of tartar and sift on a square of paper three times. Then fold it carefully into the egg mixture. Pour into greased tube pan and bake sixty minutes in a slow oven. Invert pan and let cake cool before removing.

VANDYNE GOES TO JAIL

Alfred Vandyne, 23, of near Williamsport, was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail Monday afternoon by Judge J. W. Adkins when he pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery. Vandyne had been indicted by the grand jury last week on a statutory offense, but the charge was reduced.

STUDENTS HURT AS HIGH SCHOOL BLEACHERS FALL

COLUMBUS, Oct. 20 — (UP)—Two West High school students were in a hospital today after temporary bleachers collapsed during field dedication ceremonies preceding a night football game.

Miss Alva Edwards, principal, said the stands, filled with about 500 spectators, were borrowed from Ohio State University and were erected by West High students. Eleven others were treated for slight injuries at the field.

Those taken to the hospital were: Miss Doris Chenoweth, 18, fractured ribs, head injuries and possible internal injuries and Wayne Woodyard, 22, possible fracture of the left ankle.

COURT ALLOWS SETTLEMENT OF DAMAGE ACTION

A settlement for $833.34 was made in probate court Monday in the personal injury claim of Miss Violet May Garrett, 17, of 625 S. Scioto street, against William Fearn & Co., Columbus, resulting from a traffic accident Sept. 13, 1936 on Route 23 about three miles south of the S. High street viaduct in Columbus.

Records on file in probate court say a suit had been filed in common pleas court in Franklin county.

Edward Kerchner, 625 S. Scioto street, uncle of Violet May Garrett, is her guardian. The compromise in the action was approved by Judge C. C. Young.

Senator Couzens Suffers Relapse; Condition Serious

DETROIT, Oct. 20 — (UP)—Senator James Couzens is in a serious condition in Harper hospital today, suffering a new complication in an involved series of abdominal ailments.

His physician, Dr. Hugo Freund, said the senator had sustained a "slight relapse" brought about by failure of his kidney to function properly. A year ago at the Mayo clinic in Rochester, Minn., the senior senator underwent a kidney operation.

Senator Couzens entered the hospital, Sept. 26 for a general examination after he had suffered a back strain. He had left his sick bed only once since then, when he dined with President Roosevelt during the chief executive's visit to Detroit last Thursday.

Dr. Freund visited the senator late last night, but said his condition, while serious, could not be termed critical. A nurse has been in constant attendance.

This is the time of year when the nudist begins to think of sacrificing a few important principles in the interests of personal comfort.

MINNESOTA, PURDUE CONTEST TOPS WEEK-END FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

ST. MARY'S CREW IN NEW YORK FOR FORDHAM GO

Boilermakers Have Chance to End Record Drive of Bierman-Men

DUKE OUT AS BOWL TEAM

President of Conference States League Rule

NE WYORK, Oct. 20.—(UP)—Minnesota, striving for a new record of 21 consecutive triumphs, unlimbers its powerful Gopher guns against Purdue's undefeated and untied Boilermakers Saturday in the week's headline grid encounter.

To the victor of this tilt probably will go the Big Ten championship. But the engagement has no significance as far as choosing a Rose Bowl team is concerned because Western Conference rules forbid its members to engage in post-season exhibitions.

There are three meetings of importance this week to the committee naming the eastern representative for the New Year's Day classic. At New York Fordham entertains Slip Madigan's galloping Gaels from St. Mary's, held to a tie by University of San Francisco in one of last week's upsets; Notre Dame comes to Pittsburgh to meet Jock Sutherland's Panthers; Michigan State and Marquette risk their unbeaten and untied records against each other at Milwaukee.

Record at Stake

If Bernie Bierman's Minnesotans stop Purdue they will top the record of 20 straight wins set by Notre Dame under the late Knute Rockne and Hunk Anderson.

Touting of Duke's unbeaten Blue Devils as Dixieland's leading candidate for a Rose Bowl assignment stopped abruptly when President Forest Fletcher of the Southern conference announced league rules prevented acceptance of a bid.

Unbeaten North Carolina falls in this same class. The Devils are favored to go through their schedule undefeated if they get by Tennessee Saturday. North Carolina collides with Duke on Nov. 14 and likely will be eliminated from consideration then. The Tarheels face a tough foe in Tulane's Green Wave this week.

The East's other unbeaten eleven, Army, Duquesne, Villanova and Holy Cross, engage Springfield, West Virginia Wesleyan, Boston University and Carnegie Tech this week-end.

Northwestern is favored to keep its record clean against Bob Zuppke's Illinois eleven, and Texas A. & M., leading the southwest conference with a clean slate, meets Baylor in a conference battle.

LAYDEN AFRAID PITT TO BOUNCE AFTER BEATING

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 20.—(UP)—Coach Elmer Layden drilled Notre Dame intensively today to make up for their layoff yesterday.

Layden fears Pittsburgh will bounce back from its defeat by Duquesne and would be the most powerful opponent the Irish will have met yet.

It will be Notre Dame's first game away from home this season.

HE'S THE CAPTAIN

CLIFF VAN SICKLE Arkansas

HIS FATHER is a lineman for an Oklahoma gas company, and Cliff Van Sickle, captain of the University of Arkansas, is quite a lineman on the Razorback team.

There are four Van Sickle brothers and three of them play football. Incidentally, Cliff is the "little brother" of one of the greatest tackles in Arkansas history, Clyde (Fighting Landlady) Van Sickle.

Cliff is a senior in the College of Education at Arkansas. He is 21 years old, stands six feet four and weighs 190 pounds. He plays tackle.

Born in Morris, Okla., Cliff went to Morris High school where he played four years of prep football. He was captain of the Morris team in 1931 and 1932. Unlike his brother, who turned professional after graduation from Arkansas, Cliff says he wouldn't care to play pro football.

The Arkansas captain is a boxer of ability, participates in all sports, is captain of the University R. O. T. C., and is an expert rifle and pistol shot.

Cliff is not much of a social lion. At dances he serves as bouncer!

ACE GUARD MAY BE INJURED FOR BUCKEYE GAME

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Oct. 20.—(UP)—Indiana scrimmaged the freshmen today in an effort to solve Ohio's razzle dazzle plays which fooled them in yesterday's drill.

It appeared the Hoosier line might be weakened considerably for the Ohio game by loss of Bill Dileo, guard now on the injured list.

FEEBLE RIGHT PUTS BAER OPPONENT ON RING CANVAS

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 20.—(UP)—The comeback stock of former heavyweight champion Maxie Baer was at the same level today as before his knockout of Dutch Weimer of Arizona.

A weak tap to the chin sent Weimer to the canvas for the count after a minute and a half of the second round of their scheduled 10-round headline bout. Maxie clowned through the first round. The only punch Baer landed during the brief encounter was a feeble right and it knocked Weimer out.

WOLVERINES AT WORK FOR GAME WITH COLUMBIA

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 20.—(UP)—Michigan settled down to a stiff scrimmage with the freshmen in an effort to put a winning team on the field against Columbia Saturday.

The Wolverines hoped to maintain their record of not having lost an intercollegiate contest since the defeat by Navy in 1926.

Fred Janke, promising tackle, was declared out for the season with a collar bone injury.

LUCK LAUGHS AT HUNTER

LOMA RICA, Cal. (UP)—While Robert Lloyd took a long and expensive hunting trip into the Mt. Lassen region where he succeeded in bagging a single buck, other hunters who stayed at home brought down a doe and buck that wandered into Lloyd's garden patch.

POLICE INVESTIGATE BEES

SIERRA MADRE, Cal. (UP)—Police have a ticklish job here. R. W. Black complained that his sons have been stung several times by a neighbor's bees and that his wife can't hang out her washing because of them. It is up to the police to ascertain if the bees are guilty.

XENIA ELEVEN TO VISIT LOCAL GRID NEXT WEEK

Negro School to Send Varsity Against Tiger Reserves

GRANDVIEW ON SCHEDULE

Week of Practice Planned With Game Cancelled

A football game will be played on the local high school field next Tuesday with Xenia East, a colored school, invading the local grid-iron. Faculty Manager E. E. Reger announced the contract Tuesday.

Xenia has a good team, it is reported, but the game has been booked for the reserves. It is probable Coach Jack Landrum will start freshmen and sophomores with his backfield to consist of Stebleton, Walters, Liston and Smalley.

On Thursday the varsity will be in action at Grandview, the lair of the team favored to win the league title. Coach Landrum plans a series of intensive practice sessions for the Bobcat game.

Friday's contest with Marysville has been cancelled, partly because of the infantile paralysis scare and partly because it is Pumpkin Show week, and who wants to play football during this week?

MYKRANTZ CREW WINS TWO FROM CIRCLE CITY 5

CUBA ARRANGES FESTIVAL FOR SPORTING CONTESTS

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(UP)—Cuba plans a New Year's Day football game to rival the annual Rose Bowl classic, Carlos L. Henriquez, Jr., Cuban sports commissioner, announced today.

Known as the "Havana invitation football game" it will come as a climax to a week's international sports festival during which basketball, boxing and track prizes will be vied for by teams and individuals from the United States, Mexico, Panama and Cuba.

LUCK LAUGHS AT HUNTER

LOMA RICA, Cal. (UP)—While Robert Lloyd took a long and expensive hunting trip into the Mt. Lassen region where he succeeded in bagging a single buck, other hunters who stayed at home brought down a doe and buck that wandered into Lloyd's garden patch.

POLICE INVESTIGATE BEES

SIERRA MADRE, Cal. (UP)—Police have a ticklish job here. R. W. Black complained that his sons have been stung several times by a neighbor's bees and that his wife can't hang out her washing because of them. It is up to the police to ascertain if the bees are guilty.

INTELLIGENT DOG TRIPPED

LODI, Cal. (UP)—Togo, a too intelligent dog, has landed in the city pound. He would visit porches in his neighborhood every morning, work the cap off milk bottles, and drink only the creamy portion of the milk. He finally was caught in the act.

Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the party, preferably with a check for a substantial figure.

About This And That In Many Sports

Husing Too Terrible

In Monday's hustle and bustle over Saturday's victories and defeats, the janitor forgot to mention Ted Husing's work at the microphone for the Ohio-Northwestern game — If this colym ever said Grant Ward was lousy, all is retracted, and the hand goes to Mr. Husing, who described the contest in the same manner that a flea circus should be commented on — Husing had runners of both teams going far around the ends with beautiful blocking, finally to come up with the crack "A yard was gained" — Remember A. Lee Henderson, who microphoned early in football broadcast history? Even he was better than the great Husing. ***

Boosters Beaten

Circleville Booster gridders took a 19-0 chinning Sunday in Columbus — A couple of the boys are limping, too, but they did pretty well. ***

Vacation Welcome

The vacation provided the high school gridders by cancellation of the Marysville football game is welcome — Who wants to play football Pumpkin Show week anyway? — The game will not be played at all, and will Jerry Kingsmore rave — He said a month ago his boys could beat Circleville 40 to 0. ***

Eads Strong Back

If Ohio State is going to do anything about the Indiana team, it must first stop Roy Eads, veteran halfback, pictured herein — Eads is putting in his third year of varsity service — He is a clever broken field runner, and, though weighing only 170 pounds, is one of the hardest runners on the Hoosier squad — Kokomo, Ind., is his home — The Ohio State game will be the third successive road game and the second Western Conference engagement of the season for the battlers from Bloomington — The Hoosiers downed Michigan 14 to 3, then lost to the strong Nebraska Cornhuskers, 9 to 13. ***

ZUPPKE SEEKING BEST TEAM FOR WILDCAT BATTLE

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 20.—(UP)—Illinois varsity and reserve gridders were juggled again as Coach Bob Zuppke sought the most effective lineup for the Northwestern game.

He drilled the squad stiffly on offense and worked on special defense tactics for the Wildcat attack.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

SHUTTING OUT TWO LONG TRUMPS

ON A RECENT rainy afternoon a foursome of New York Yacht club members saw an unprecedented happening, declarer playing a grand slam and shutting out two long trumps held by a defender.

Bidding went: West, 1-Spade, second hand; North, 2-Diamonds; East, 3-Diamonds, when he had better have bid 3-Clubs, as he had no idea how long partner's spades were; West, 4-Clubs, showing his lowest side Ace, as demanded by partner when his bid of opponent's suit announced, "Unusual support for spades and no losing diamonds"; East, 4-Hearts, to show his own side Ace; West, 5-Diamonds, merely to keep bidding alive, to allow partner to continue if he so desired; East, 5-Hearts, showing the K, as his first bid of that suit had shown the Ace; West, 6-Hearts, leaving partner to decide whether a small or grand slam should be bid. West had made an opening call of spades, of which East held second to fourth honors. East also had shown the Ace of clubs and Q of hearts. It never occurred to East that he had forced his partner's responses and that perhaps that West had bid a 4 or 5-card suit. With solid hearts and clubs on the side and void diamonds in dummy, how could a grand slam be made? He hesitatingly bid 7-Spades, which South doubled confidently.

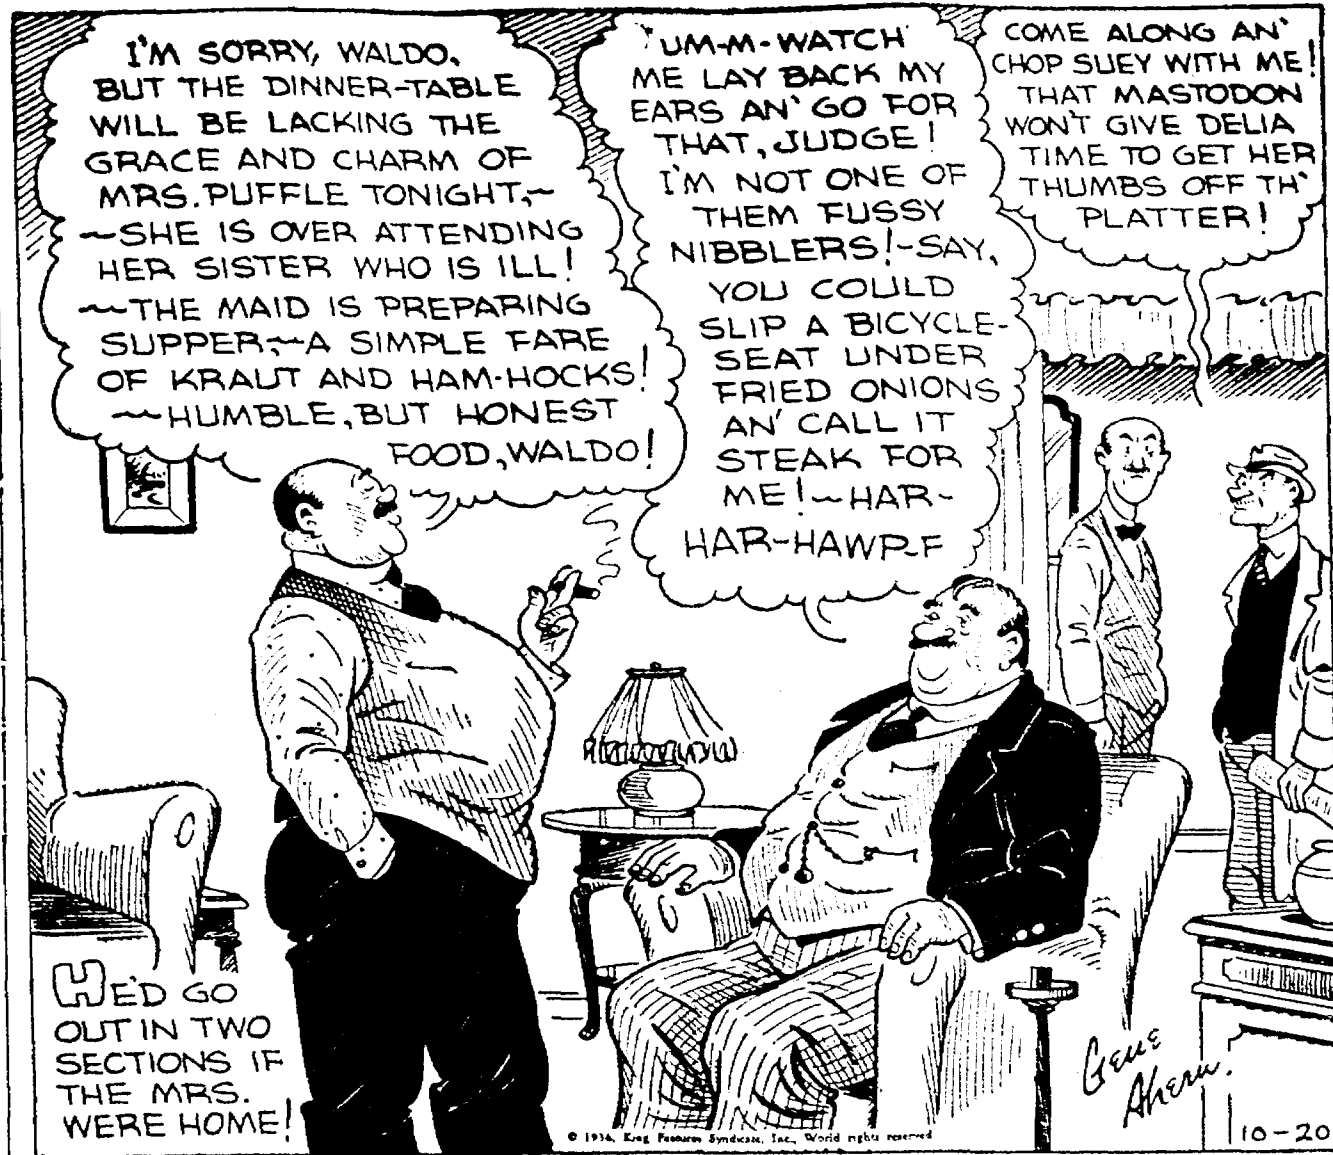

The opening lead was the 9 of hearts. Dummy's K won. The Ace took the next trick. West was momentarily so rattled that he led dummy's last heart, winning with his Q. When North let go a low diamond, for the first time declarer realized that South had been dealt two long trumps. West led his K of diamonds. North's Ace covered. Dummy ruffed. The fifth through the seventh tricks were taken with declarer's Ace of clubs, J of hearts and Q of diamonds. It was almost a miracle that South had been obliged to follow suit every time. Declarer was down to two losing diamonds and four untouched trumps. Dummy held two high trump honors and four high clubs. The doubler held nothing but six trumps. Declarer was still in the lead.

West led a losing diamond. Dummy ruffed. South undertruffed. Dummy led a club. South ruffed and declarer overtruffed. Declarer led his last diamond. Dummy ruffed with its last trump and South's undertruff. At the eleventh trick dummy led a club. Both South and declarer ruffed. Declarer had two winning spades left. South held two losing spades. West spread his hand for the grand slam.

MANY FINE SADDLE HORSES ENTERED FOR EVENING PERFORMANCES

10 CITIES SEND 50 ANIMALS TO SEEK PREMIUMS

More Application Blanks Expected by Musser as Show Nears

TENT STABLES ENTRIES

Bleachers to Accommodate 1,000 Being Erected

More than 50 fine horses were listed Tuesday morning for the saddle horse show. Robert Musser, chairman, announced entries are listed from Wilmington, Chilli-cothe, Marietta, Columbus, Black Lick, Worthington, Parkersburg, Dayton, Cincinnati and Kingston. The show is expected to surpass any previous horse exhibit ever held in Pickaway county.

Elmer E. Wolf, director of the horse show, reported a large tent had been erected at the ball park for stabling horses and many would be housed in his barns. He suggested horse show visitors walk to the ball park as the parking facilities are limited. Bleachers to accommodate 1,000 persons are being erected.

The horse and pony shows will be held on Thursday and Friday evening. Draft horses will be showed and judged Friday afternoon.

WORLD ADVANCE OF DRYS NOTED BY MRS. BOOLE

EVANSTON, Ill. (UP)—Mrs. Ella A. Boole, a world president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, sees evidence of new interest in the promotion of world-wide abstinence in acceptances to the World W. C. T. U. The meeting will be held in Washington, June 4-9, 1937.

Mrs. Boole said acceptances already have been received from Bermuda, Brazil, Burma, Canada, China, Cuba, Denmark, England, Egypt, Guatemala, India, Japan, Latvia, New Zealand, Norway, Palestine, Scotland, South Africa, Uruguay and Ulster.

"Worldwide interest in exposing the menace of the organized liquor interests in virtually every civilized land is reflected in current correspondence," Mrs. Boole said.

W. C. T. U. headquarters here announced that Mrs. Ruhama Farnsworth, Evanston, has arrived in Brazil to carry on temperance education work there. She succeeds Miss Flora Strout, who returned from Rio de Janeiro after 28 years of service in the world field.

VOICE ...of the... PEOPLE

Fellow Sportsmen: Two years ago in his campaign Governor Davey promised that all the money from hunting and fishing licenses fees would be used exclusively for constructive conservation work with a minimum amount spent for salaries and overhead.

He proposed to give the Conservation Council full powers to lay out a comprehensive State program to be followed without interference, to fix bag limits and open seasons, and determine other administrative matters. He pledged to the Council the right to administer all the sportsmen's money. He promised that there would be no politics in the Division.

All that he has faithfully done and more. The Conservation Council now has the broad powers that were promised. The first real conservation program that the State of Ohio has ever had has been mapped out. You will remember prior to Governor Davey's administration the fees from hunting and fishing licenses went into the general fund, where its distribution was subject entirely to the discretion of the Board of Control. That money is now completely isolated for the benefit of the hunters and fishermen of Ohio.

Not only has the money that he pledged been reserved for the use of the sportsmen, but in addition Governor Davey recovered for this program four hundred thousand dollars which belonged to sportsmen and which had previously been diverted elsewhere.

In cooperation with the Federal Government, thousands of small dams have been constructed at headwaters of streams, a course of study on conservation for the public schools is being built up and a wild life research has been established at Ohio State University. A freshwater fisheries research laboratory has been founded at Gibraltar Island to furnish all scientific and experimental data for the Division.

The Division initiated a program

rector, reported 18 entries were on file for the Miss Pumpkin Show pageant Wednesday night, and more were expected.

Mayor W. J. Graham informed directors he would display a pumpkin, six feet in diameter, on the main corner during the celebration. The big imitation pumpkin will be designated as "King Pumpkin."

T. D. Krinn, directors of amusements, reported the rides were being erected, two of the free acts were being set up, and more shows were assigned space for this year's event but he explained these shows were licensed by the state and had been presented at the Lancaster fair. Four state inspectors will attend the Pumpkin Show, Mr. Krinn said, and nothing undesirable will be permitted.

After learning considerable lumber and bolts for erecting display racks had been stolen from the warehouse during the summer, directors instructed Robert Colville to have the doors of the building repaired and equipped with new locks.

Workmen Swarming Over Uptown District Tuesday

Carpenters, electricians and plumbers were swarming over Circleville's downtown district Tuesday erecting booths, connecting lights and gas pipes.

Even some of the city and county pastors were taking lessons with saws and hammers on church booths. All building was expected to be completed Tuesday night and everything will be in readiness for the opening of the show Wednesday noon.

Rides have been erected and directors are waiting for displays to start arriving.

for securing for public use easements on streams which heretofore have been closed to the public, thus enabling fishermen to work these streams without trespass. Another important innovation is that recognition has been given to conservation leaders in selecting the personnel to fill important positions in the Division. The Sportsmen now know not only that the money accruing from licenses is reserved for their use only but they know where that money goes. They are now for the first time in the history of the State in control of their investment.

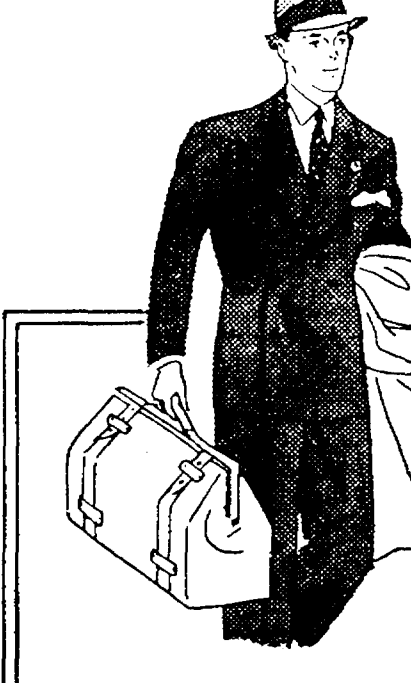

Your vote for Governor Davey's re-election will help to insure the continuance of this program which, I believe, meets the approval of practically every sportsman in Ohio. He pledges his support to further important legislation to the end that Ohio's conservation program will become a model for other states.

King's Detectives Assigned to Mrs. Simpson

LONDON, Oct. 20 — (UP) — A detective normally assigned to King Edward aided Mrs. Wallis Simpson today in her elaborate precautions to conceal her movements about London.

Mrs. Simpson apparently spent the night at her new home in Cumberland Terrace. A little before noon she left.

Mrs. Simpson's automobile drove up in front of the house. The detective was loitering outside. He spoke to the chauffeur who drove off around the block and picked up Mrs. Simpson, who made her exit from a side entrance to the house.

While his friend was here, King Edward entertained his shooting party in bleak Norfolk and the news of Mrs. Simpson's impending divorce spread on by gossip in

KINGSTON

The Ladies' Aid society of the M. E. church met in a delightful meeting on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Florence Jones presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. A. Dane Ellis. New calendars were given to the members. The committee for next month is composed of the following members, Mesdames D. H. Dreisbach, E. W. Hatcher, Mary Lemley and Misses Mary L. The committee composed of the following members, Mesdames C. C. Hatfield, Mrs. Fred Dunn, Mrs. Niswander and Misses Katherine L. ever widening circles, like those a pebble causes in a pond.

Instead of the cheery party that had been expected to attend the shooting party at Sandringham, the royal estate near the Norfolk coast, there were only men — and the make up of the party indicated that the cheer would be restrained.

Two late arrivals were the king's brother-in-law, the Earl of Harewood, who preserves the conventions of the staid court circles of the late King George, and Sir Samuel Hoare, first lord of the admiralty, whose chief diversion is ice skating.

But there was not even skating at Sandringham. The weather was blustery and a strong west wind drove the rain squalls.

Nine months' court mourning for

King George ended today, and when the king returns he will be able to appear more in public than he has in the early days of his reign.

At Ipswich, 60 miles by road from Sandringham, court attendants made ready for the assizes at which the "Simpson W. vs. Simpson E. A." divorce suit will be heard within the next week.

A medieval ceremony will open the court session Friday. Mr. Justice Hawke will attend church service along with the mayor of Ipswich and local judges in their robes and there will be a procession to the county hall where trumpeters will play a fanfare as the judge enters court. There will be more ceremony in the court and then the hearing of criminal cases will begin.

Next, at a time to be selected, the Simpson case will be called. Mrs. Simpson is to testify and her barrister will call a couple of witnesses to give evidence that Simpson misconducted himself, it is expected — if the judge approves the evidence — and the decree could be made absolute at the end of six months. A special dispensation could shorten the interval.

It is what will happen at the end of the interval, when Mrs. Simpson is free to remarry, that the gossips discuss.

The question is still whether the king might possibly marry the vivacious Baltimorean, already divorced once, and in what manner. Most Church of England clergymen refuse to marry couples of whom one is divorced, even though the divorced one be innocent.

EVANSTON, Ill. (UP)—Mrs. Ella A. Boole, a world president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, sees evidence of new interest in the promotion of world-wide abstinence in acceptances to the World W. C. T. U. The meeting will be held in Washington, June 4-9, 1937.

VOICE ...of the... PEOPLE

Fellow Sportsmen:
Two years ago in his campaign Governor Davey promised that all the money from hunting and fishing licenses fees would be used exclusively for constructive conservation work with a minimum amount spent for salaries and overhead.

He proposed to give the Conservation Council full powers to lay out a comprehensive State program to be followed without interference, to fix bag limits and open seasons, and determine other administrative matters. He pledged to the Council the right to administer all the sportsmen's money. He promised that there would be no politics in the Division.

All that he has faithfully done and more. The Conservation Council now has the broad powers that were promised. The first real conservation program that the State of Ohio has ever had has been mapped out. You will remember prior to Governor Davey's administration the fees from hunting and fishing licenses went into the general fund, where its distribution was subject entirely to the discretion of the Board of Control. That money is now completely isolated for the benefit of the hunters and fishermen of Ohio. Not only has the money that he pledged been reserved for the use of the sportsmen, but in addition Governor Davey recovered for this program four hundred thousand dollars which belonged to sportsmen and which had previously been diverted elsewhere.

In cooperation with the Federal Government, thousands of small dams have been constructed at headwaters of streams, a course of study on conservation for the public schools is being built up and a wild life research has been established at Ohio State University. A freshwater fisheries research laboratory has been founded at Gibraltar Island to furnish all scientific and experimental data for the Division. The Division initiated a program for securing for public use easements on streams which heretofore have been closed to the public, thus enabling fishermen to work these streams without trespass. Another important innovation is that recognition has been given to conservation leaders in selecting the personnel to fill important positions in the Division. The Sportsmen now know not only that the money accruing from licenses is reserved for their use only but they know where that money goes. They are now for the first time in the history of the State in control of their investment.

Your vote for Governor Davey's re-election will help to insure the continuance of this program which, I believe, meets the approval of practically every sportsman in Ohio. He pledges his support to further important legislation to the end that Ohio's conservation program will become a model for other states.

rector, reported 18 entries were on file for the Miss Pumpkin Show pageant Wednesday night, and more were expected.

Mayor W. J. Graham informed directors he would display a pumpkin, six feet in diameter, on the main corner during the celebration. The big imitation pumpkin will be designated as "King Pumpkin."

T. D. Krinn, directors of amusements, reported the rides were being erected, two of the free acts were being set up, and more shows were assigned space for this year's event but he explained these shows were licensed by the state and had been presented at the Lancaster fair. Four state inspectors will attend the Pumpkin Show, Mr. Krinn said, and nothing undesirable will be permitted.

After learning considerable lumber and bolts for erecting display racks had been stolen from the warehouse during the summer, directors instructed Robert Colville to have the doors of the building repaired and equipped with new locks.

Workmen Swarming Over Uptown District Tuesday

Carpenters, electricians and plumbers were swarming over Circleville's downtown district Tuesday erecting booths, connecting lights and gas pipes.

Even some of the city and county pastors were taking lessons with saws and hammers on church booths. All building was expected to be completed Tuesday night and everything will be in readiness for the opening of the show Wednesday noon.

Rides have been erected and directors are waiting for displays to start arriving.

King's Detectives Assigned to Mrs. Simpson

LONDON, Oct. 20 — (UP) — A detective normally assigned to King Edward aided Mrs. Wallis Simpson today in her elaborate precautions to conceal her movements about London.

Mrs. Simpson apparently spent the night at her new home in Cumberland Terrace. A little before noon she left.

Mrs. Simpson's automobile drove up in front of the house. The detective was loitering outside. He spoke to the chauffeur who drove off around the block and picked up Mrs. Simpson, who made her exit from a side entrance to the house.

While his friend was here, King Edward entertained his shooting party in bleak Norfolk and the news of Mrs. Simpson's impending divorce spread on by gossip in New calendars were given to the members. The committee for next month is composed of the following members, Mesdames D. H. Dreisbach, E. W. Hatcher, Mary Lemley and Misses Mary L. Harpster and Margaret Thomas.

The following program was presented with Mrs. C. C. Hatfield acting as chairman, vocal solos, "One Fleeting Moment" and "Trees" by Rev. Niswander accompanied by Mrs. Niswander; "Verses and Facts About Ohio" were presented by Miss Carrie Umsted; "Historic Facts and Stories about Ohio" by Mrs. A. U. Brundige. The committee composed of the following members, Mesdames C. C. Hatfield, Mrs. Fred Dumm, Mrs. Niswander and Misses Katherine L. ever widening circles, like those a pebble causes in a pond.

Instead of the cheery party that had been expected to attend the shooting party at Sandringham, the royal estate near the Norfolk coast, there were only men — and the make up of the party indicated that the cheer would be restrained.

Two late arrivals were the king's brother-in-law, the Earl of Harewood, who preserves the conventions of the staid court circles of the late King George, and Sir Samuel Hoare, first lord of the admiralty, whose chief diversion is ice skating.

But there was not even skating at Sandringham. The weather was blustery and a strong west wind drove the rain squalls.

Nine months' court mourning for as pastor of that church. Rev P. B. Ferris of the First Presbyterian church in Chillicothe delivered a fine address. Rev. Emil Toensmeier of Circleville gave the charge to Rev. Forrester, Rev. George Brown of Amanda and a former pastor of the Presbyterian church in Kingston gave the charge to the congregation. The junior choir with Miss Elizabeth Umsted, leader, and Miss Mary Hempleman, furnished the music.

Junior Hohenstein was awarded a prize for being present at the M. E. Sunday school every Sunday during July, August and September. The primary department presented him with a geographical globe.

Mrs. Emma Miller, aged eighty-two, fell at her home on Ing street and fractured three ribs and sustained a number of bruises. She is somewhat improved at this writing.

Mrs. Cyrus Routt is on the sick list suffering with a liver ailment.

Mrs. Wallace Evans entertained on Friday evening. Two tables of bridge were in progress. Those enjoying this pleasant game were, Mrs. E. H. Artman, Mrs. Francis Snyder, Mrs. Herman Williams, Mrs. Kenneth DeLong, Mrs. Kenneth Reynolds, Mrs. Howard Miner and Mrs. Lawrence Kerns. Pumpkin pie with whipped cream and coffee. Mrs. Artman was awarded the prize for high score and Mrs. Williams won low prize.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Williams and daughter Nancy Alice and Mrs. Mary Terry were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Terry and daughter Carol Anne near Cedar Hill on Sunday.

King George ended today, and when the king returns he will be able to appear more in public than he has in the early days of his reign.

At Ipswich, 60 miles by road from Sandringham, court attendants made ready for the assizes at which the "Simpson W. vs. Simpson E. A." divorce suit will be heard within the next week.

A medieval ceremony will open the court session Friday. Mr. Justice Hawke will attend church service along with the mayor of Ipswich and local judges in their robes and there will be a procession to the county hall where trumpeters will play a fanfare as the judge enters court. There will be more ceremony in the court and then the hearing of criminal cases will begin.

Next, at a time to be selected, the Simpson case will be called. Mrs. Simpson is to testify and her barrister will call a couple of witnesses to give evidence that Simpson misconducted himself, it is expected. A decree then would be granted — if the judge approves the evidence — and the decree could be made absolute at the end of six months. A special dispensation could shorten the interval.
